The Prime Minister
Date:15/03/2008

Mr Gordon Brown

10 Downing Street

London SW1A 2AA

Dear Prime Minister,

Many thanks for your response; I do understand that you are extremely busy.

However, the reasons for writing to you is an absolutely last resort, it is meant to demonstrate that;

a) I had discussed both my businesses with senior government ministers – in 1996 in the case of the first business venture and 1997 in the case of the second business venture, before making contact with the various government business support agencies

b) That both my businesses were – subsequently stolen by these government business support agencies – both thefts are supported by documentary evidence of the facts

c) That I tried to get the matter resolved by contacting various government agencies and the former prime minister -

d) That I tried the services of the Ombudsman

e) That on the advice of the Department for Constitutional Affairs - I tried to obtain a legal solution - with disastrous consequences on both occasion - because I did not have access to legal representation or legal aid

f) That I have been in discussions with the various secretaries of State for the Department of Trade and Industry and the Chief Executive of the Small Business Services.

It is in this context that I have decided to write to you, the fact that you have now passed on my complaint to the very department that has failed to acknowledge my complaint over the past (1) years - despite the evidence is very distressing.

I am well aware that you are extremely busy - but no one should be subjected to my ordeal no matter what their ethnic origin.

The facts are that government business agencies that I have approached for support in my business venture have stolen my business and used it for themselves can be witnessed again within the documents that are attached with this letter.

I respectfully request an independent enquiry into these matters - since the former DTI has been involved throughout and cannot be regarded as independent - I had in fact written to Mrs Margaret Hodge - their response was dismissive - My partner and I subsequently requested an appointment with Mrs Hodge and have had no response to this response.

Because of the theft of my first business by Dr Phil Blackburn, former chief executive of WLTEC, I lost my house and was eventually evicted from my rented accommodation.

Because of the theft of my second business venture by VJ Amin, former employee of Business Link London North West and Ruth Brothwell, former employee of Business for London - I am forced to live on income support, social security and as of age 65, a government pension, and I was not able to repay any of the monies borrowed to start either business.

Furthermore because the persons who have stolen my second business venture are former employees of government agencies – they are in positions to obtain government funds to offer training based on my documents for free, this should not be possible in a fair and just society.

I am therefore requesting once more that since;

- a) access to legal aid is not available,
- b) and attempts to obtain a solution have been tried without success –
- c) that the matters raised in this letter be impartially investigated based on the overwhelming volume of evidence, documents and witness statements
- d) and that I should be compensated for the theft of my business by these former government business support employees.

Yours respectfully,

Signed: Beauford Lloyd Sewell
